

Jerry Barry

Assistant Director, Colorado Office of Legislative Legal Services

BIOGRAPHY

Jeremiah Barry has worked with the Colorado General Assembly for 24 years. He supervises a team of 12 who draft bills and amendments in the areas of criminal, civil and juvenile laws; courts; public benefits; education; and higher education. He served on the staff of the Colorado Reapportionment Commission that redrew legislative districts in 2001 and was the commission's staff director in 2011. Prior to his work for the Colorado General Assembly, Jerry supervised litigation for the Resolution Trust Corporation and was in private practice. He graduated from the University of Denver College of Law and Claremont McKenna College.