

Erin Magada

Erin is the co-director of Petros Zoe Initiative, a nonprofit organization located in central Uganda who uses a holistic approach to empower young people to be the best versions of themselves. She graduated with a Bachelor degree in Human Services from Stevenson University in Maryland in 2012. After traveling the world for a few years, she settled briefly in Austin, Texas where she worked as a manager of a social enterprise called SAvery who used grilled cheese sandwiches to fight human trafficking. Erin now resides full time in Uganda with her husband.
